The IKO mavericks were compiled by the above Maverick Editors. Much work has been done to insure the listing is correct. However, errors do occur. If you know of any incorrect listings, please send the correct information to the address given below. Also, if you are a member of IKO and would like to see your mavericks listed here for attribution, please send that information to the same address. Thank you.

also versus see

One of the conventions I have used in this text is to identify like tokens with the reference of (also IKO #xxx). If the tokens are not exactly the same, or are related, I have used the reference (see IKO #xxx).

The use of (see) may show two tokens that are from the same merchant but are of a different denomination, different shape, different composition, etc. It may also show two tokens that may be the same, but the information is not exactly the same. For example:

IKO #116        THE BRUNSWICK POOL ROOM/GOOD AT/BAR/OR/LUNCH COUNTER/ H. DAVIS, M'G'R (see IKO #213)

IKO #213        THE BRUNSWICK POOL ROOM/GOOD AT/BAR/OR/LUNCH COUNTER/ H. DAVIS.
PROP. (see IKO #116)

These two tokens may be the same, with the reporter of one of the tokens making a mistake, or they may be different varieties from the same merchant. Another example:

IKO #2779        LAUNDROMAT/NEFF'S/OSBORN (see IKO #3295)//35¢

IKO #3295        NEFF'S LAUNDROMAT OSBORN, 35¢ (see IKO #2779)/(blank)

Again these may be varieties or two people reporting the same token but doing so differently. I am told by old Maverick Editors that very few people report tokens the same way.

EXPLANATION OF SYMBOLS AND CONVENTIONS

My introduction to tokens came with a careful study of Lloyd Wagaman's Indiana Trade Tokens. All of the conventions found below are consistent with his usage with some additions and expansions of my own.

1st Column: This column denotes the composition of the token. The following symbols are used.

A – aluminum	CBxyz – cardboard or similar <sup>4</sup>	T – Tin
Ax – anodized aluminum <sup>1</sup>	CExyz – celluloid <sup>5</sup>	Vx – vulcanite <sup>8</sup>
A/C – encased cent <sup>2</sup>	Fx – fibre <sup>6</sup>	WM – white metal
B – brass, bronze, or copper	L – lead	WM/B – white metal plated on brass
Bx – colored brass or bronze alloy <sup>3</sup>	Pxyz – plastic <sup>7</sup>	WM/C – bimetal <sup>2</sup>
B/A – bimetal <sup>2</sup>	S – steel	Wxy – wooden nickel <sup>9</sup>
C – copper	Si – Silver	Z – zinc

<sup>4</sup> The x, y, and z represent the colors of the inscription on the token and the color of the token itself. For example, if the symbol is CBg, then the token is made of green cardboard. If the symbol is CBwg, then the token has white writing on a green background. If the symbol is CBwur, then the token has white and blue writing on a red background. The last color is always the color of the token itself.

<sup>7</sup> The x, y, and z represent the colors of the inscription on the token and the color of the token itself. For example, if the symbol is Pg, then the token is made of green plastic. If the symbol is Pwg, then the token has white writing on a green background. If the symbol is Pwur, then the token has white and blue writing on a red background. The last color is always the color of the token itself.

<sup>9</sup> The x and y represent the colors of the inscription on the token. For example, if the symbol is Wg, then the token has green writing. If the symbol is Wug, then the token has blue and green writing. The color of a wooden token is assumed to be the natural color of wood, so no color code is given for the wood.

COLOR CODES FOR TOKENS

a – grey	f – light green	n – brown	r – red	v – violet
b – black	g – green	o – orange	s – silver	w – white
c – cream	h – peach	p – pink	t – tan	x – copper
d – gold	l – lavender	q – aqua	u – blue	y – yellow
e – light blue	m – maroon			z – purple

2nd Column: The measurements are generally considered accurate to the nearest mm. Measurement of odd shaped pieces are given as the length of the largest dimension. For example, the side of a triangular token would serve as it's dimension. Pieces with parallel sides such as squares, rectangles, hexagons, and octagons are measured as the distance between parallel sides. If applicable, the dimension may be given as the vertical height by the horizontal width. For example, an oval piece 20 mm high by 33 mm wide would be written as 20x33. Scalloped pieces are measured across the coin, valley to valley, even with an odd number of scallops. This will result in not necessarily measuring the diameter of the token (the measurement will not pass through the center of the token). (This is different from the way most people measure tokens, but it is the way Wagaman measured tokens for his book. Find a scalloped token from your collection that is also listed in the Indiana book and measure it's size. Every such token in my collection measures valley to valley to match what is in Wagaman's book. My guess is that while scallops can be damaged, valleys are much less likely to be damaged and would therefore be a more accurate measurement – but that is only a guess.)

3rd Column: This column denotes the shape of the token.

3 – equilateral triangle	CL4 – clover or shamrock	OV – oval
4 – square	CL8 – 8 leaf clover, no stem	OVxs – oval with x scallops
4c – square with concave (clipped) corners	CM – crescent moon	R – round
5 – pentagon	CP – chamber pot	#s – token with # scallops (4s)
6 – hexagon	CR – crown	#cs – token with # clipped scallops*
8 – octagon	CS – cross	4es – token with elongated scallops
AC – acorn	DI – diamond	4p4s – 4 points and 4 scallops
BA – barrel	HH – horse head	SH – shield
BE – bell	HM – half moon	SP – spade
BG – boxing glove	HS – horseshoe	STx – star with x points (ST8)
BW – barrow (isosceles triangle)	HT – heart	TB – teddy bear
CL3 – club	IC – iron cross	TH – top hat
	IO – inverted oval	TOP – top
	OB – oblong (rectangular)	X – miscellaneous, describe

*The token has flattened scallops, appearing round with # small divots cut into the perimeter of the token.

**The token is squarish with 8 scallops, 4 scallops on the corners and 4 elongated scallops, 1 per side.

4th Column: This column denotes the rarity of the token.

M – modern	6 – 20 to 49 known
1 – 500+ known	7 – 10 to 19 known
2 – 350 to 499 known	8 – 5 to 9 known
3 – 200 to 349 known	9 – 2 to 4 known
4 – 100 to 199 known	10 – only 1 known, unique
5 – 50 to 99 known

Other abbreviation used:

a/i – all of the lines on this side of the token are incused	ICS – Insured Credit System reverse
BB – Brunswick Balke reverse	lam – looped as made
BBC – Brunswick Balke Collender reverse	m/g – monogram
b/r – background removed	MMT – Municipal Trade Token
c/h – center hole	unl – unlisted in the latest applicable reference guide
c/ham – center hole as made	(...) – indicates that the wording inside the parenthesis is not on the token
c/o – cut out	[...] – indicates that the wording inside the brackets is not on the token
c/s – counter stamped	{...} – information included in {braces} is not exact.
ham – hole as made	Unless I have seen the token itself, or feel confident the person recording the attribution is doing so as accurately as Wagaman did, I include the token information in {braces} to indicate the approximate nature of the information.
hanging X – the X is a letter or object with b/r, letters connected top & bottom, kind of a reverse c/o holed – hole added ( usually crudely done)
i – previous line incused
i/c – in a circle
i/t – intertwined
ICL – Ingle Customer Ledger (Byars)

One last convention: when a token, usually modern and made of plastic or wood, has the symbol / on the token I will list it as \ so it is not confused with a line break. For example, when one side of a token reads:

VALENTINE, IND. CENTENNIAL/REDEEMABLE AT/CENTENNIAL/HEADQUARTERS/THROUGH/2/15/69

where 2/15/69 is all on one line, I will list the token as:
